SyberWorks e-Learning Podcasts: Episode #18: Tips for Creating Online Tests

Waltham, Massachusetts – February 12, 2008

SyberWorks, Inc., a leader in custom e-Learning Solutions and the Learning Management System industry, today announces the next episode in their e-Learning Podcast Series: "Tips for Creating Online Tests."

Dave Boggs, CEO of SyberWorks, states:

> "Today's podcast is an interview with Dana Fine, Senior Instructional Designer at SyberWorks, on the subject of creating online tests. In this episode, Dana provides practical tips for creating great online tests, including discussing how hard a test should be, how it should relate to the main objectives of an online course, how to protect against cheating, and more."

Boggs continues, "This is one of Dana's favorite instructional-design topics, so you can be sure her information will benefit your own company's e-Learning development process." Mary Kay Lofurno, Director of Marketing at SyberWorks, narrates the series.
