

SyberWorks penetrates the UK market by signing a contract with one of England's top healthcare organization, Morecambe Bay NHS Trust

Waltham, Massachusetts – May 6, 2004

SyberWorks, a leader in custom e-Learning Solutions and the Learning Management System industry, has signed a contract with one of England's top healthcare organizations, Morecambe Bay NHS Trust.

Tony Crick, Laboratory Manager of Morecambe Bay Hospital's NHS Trust, Royal Lancaster Infirmary, states, "The SyberWorks Training Center enables us to have a complete and flexible solution to manage our in-house training efforts for scientific and non-scientific content in our Pathology Department."

Dave Boggs, CEO of SyberWorks, states:

"Our LMS product is extremely robust and has a terrific range of flexibility that can be seamlessly deployed across all industry verticals."

Bob Goldschneider, Director of Business Development, says, "We are delighted to be working with one of the UK's most respected healthcare providers and look forward to continuing to expand our market across Europe."

Morecambe Bay Hospital Trust operates on three main acute sites: the Royal Lancaster Infirmary to the south, Furness General Hospital to the far west, and Westmorland General Hospital to the north.

Morecambe Bay Hospital Trust also offers services on two other sites: Ulverston Hospital in the town of Ulverston and Queen Victoria Hospital in the seaside town of Morecambe. The Trust Headquarters are located in Kendal, England.

In 2000/2001, the Trust cared for 44,000 in-patients, 26,000-day case admissions, and 246,000 outpatient episodes across the five sites. All clinical specialties are available across the Trust with tertiary services being provided in Manchester, Blackpool, and Preston. The Trust has an annual income of £120 million (approximately $212 million USD). www.mbht.nhs.uk
