LMS e-Learning Implementation Podcast Transcript #16 Holiday Round-Up '07

[music]

Announcer: SyberWorks podcast. Learn any time, any place.

Mary Kay Lofurno: Welcome to the SyberWorks e-Learning Podcast Series, where we look at various topics in e-Learning. SyberWorks specializes in custom e-Learning solutions, learning management systems, and e-Learning development for corporations, governments, and non-profit institutions.

My name is Mary Kay Lofurno, and I'm the Marketing Director here at SyberWorks, and your host today.

We have had a terrific year here on the SyberWorks e-Learning Podcast Series, and covered some interesting and useful topics such as: a six-part series on e-Learning accessibility for training managers, which covered the Americans With Disabilities Act, Section 508; the World Wide Web Consortium's Level One, Two and Three Accessibility Guidelines; Flash accessibility; and accessibility testing, featuring Al Lemieux, our senior e-Learning developer here at SyberWorks.

We also did a three-part series with Mark Bower, president of Edge Interactive, on topics ranging from the impact of training speak versus business language, hot button issues in training project management, and how to select a training solution for your company's e-Learning needs.

We also had a two-part series with Guy Wallace, president of Epic Incorporated, on Lean ISD (1)(2). And we had an interview with Jim Kissane of RedVector Incorporated on the impact of the four different generations that are in today's workforce: traditionalists, baby boomers, generation Y, and generation X.

You can find these podcasts and their accompanying transcripts in the media center on the SyberWorks website.

This is Mary Kay Lofurno, Marketing Director at SyberWorks. We at SyberWorks wanted to thank you for listening to our e-Learning Podcast Series, and wish you a happy holiday and a safe new year. Talk with you next year!

[music]

Announcer: SyberWorks Podcast. Learn any time, any place.

GSA